

The Progress.

Vol. XV.

QU'APPELLE STATION, N.W.T., THURSDAY MAR. 29, 1900.

No 21

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

LEGAL.

A. D. DICKSON, Barrister, Advocate
Solicitor, etc.
Office, first door south of the Queen's Hotel
Qu'Appelle St.

MEDICAL.

D. K. E. CARTER, M.D., Qu'Appelle, Physician, Surgeon, Coroner Etc. Graduate Toronto University and Licentiate College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont.

W. HENDERSON, M.D.C.M.,
Graduate of McGill University.
Licentiate of College of Physicians and Surgeons, N.W.T. Office at home.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Queen's Hotel.

Thos. Hillard, Prop.
FIRST-CLASS accommodation for guests.
Table supplied with the best in the market. Fine sample rooms for commercial travelers. Choice brands of Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Porter meets all trains.
Rates $1 per day.

MEETINGS.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of South
Qu'Appelle meets the first Monday of each month. The Secretary-Treasurer will be in the office to attend to business every Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Applications for Transient Traders' Licenses, to Rent the Town Hall, and for Interments in the Cemetery, must be made to Frank Amas
J. C. STARR Sec.-Treas.

Qu'Appelle Lodge, A. F. & A. M., G. R. M., meets in the Masonic Hall, Qu'Appelle St., on Tuesday's, on an average full moon. Sojourning brethren are daily invited.
W. G. VICARS, W. M.
F. BELL, Sec.

MUSIC LESSONS.

Piano and Organ lessons taught by
Clara F. Jones, late of Banffshire
Conservatory of Music. Apply at the Post Office, Qu'Appelle Station.

A. HOLLINGSHEAD,

House, Sign and Carriage Painter.
Glazing, Glazing, Paper Hanging and Kalsomining.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY EXECUTED.

QU'APPELLE STATION and
INDIAN HEAD

JOHNSTON & CREAMER

Sale and Feed Stables.
QU'APPELLE STATION.

FEEDERS IN CANADIAN HORSES.

J. B. ROBINSON,
Contractor & Builder

Estimates given and all work promptly attended to.

Undertaking

Funeral services carefully attended to

Western Co-Operative
Loan & Investment Co.

Head office, 283 Main St., WINNIPEG

Qu'Appelle Advisory Board:

President, W. L. Watt; vice-President,
Hon. E. L. Watt; Directors, C. G. San-don, Esq., Harry Jordan, Esq.,
B. Dale, Esq.; Valuator, James
McNaughton;
Secretary-Treasurer and Agent, A. Matheson

Loans made on Real Estate in Town and Country. Issues Prepaid stock at 6 per cent and share in profits. Fully paid stock $15 per cent. Monthly installment stock maturing in 5, 10 and 12 years.

WM. ALLEN, General Agent,
(Resident), N. W. T.

BOOTS AND SHOES

MADE TO ORDER.

Repairs promptly done.
S. COLLINS,
Qu'Appelle Stn.

What A Great Man Said.

The Hon. John Wanamaker, known as the Merchant Prince of America, is president of the Pennsylvania State Sunday School Association. In his last annual address he made the following statement which ought to be heralded from one end of the land to the other:

"The Sunday-school began in the eighteenth century, and slowly developed, improved and enlarged, indeed almost all its growth has been in the nineteenth century. I make bold to declare that the noblest development of the closing century is that of the Sunday-school in its many various departments, buildings and literature because of the touch it has had upon the civilization of the country as a mother of churches and its care for her children. This century is the only Sunday-school century that the world has ever had. From a small and imperfect organization, step by step through township, county and State organizations, and a splendid International organization, and by means of County conventions, institutes, house-to-house visitation, summer assemblies, graded Sunday-schools, and Bible Union work, and other agencies from the very few who have come in the first years under the influence of the Sunday-school to the twenty-five millions of youths and adults, at least, who are to-day studying the International lessons in England and America and the wide world over. I believe that we have been preparing the world by all these previous years and by the preparation of this century for the greatest of all centuries, the one upon which we now enter."

A Black Eye for the Trustees.

A revelation was made to the Regina Town Council which verily took the breath of the civic fathers. In presenting a preliminary report from the committee on the subject of obtaining title deeds for tax sale lots held by the Town, Finance Chairman Martin said he had interviewed Mr. J. H. Ross of the North-West Government with a view to getting special legislation. On the allied subject of townsite property he had been informed that Mr. Ross had made an important discovery while at Ottawa last month, the nature of which was of such moment that he had taken upon himself to invite Mr. Ross to present the matter before the Council. By motion Mr. Ross was invited to address the board.

In introducing the subject Mr. Ross went over the history of the townsite business, with which he was familiar, through his relations with Moose Jaw, which townsite is in the same position as Regina. He referred to a North-West Government resolution passed in 1884, the presentation to the Government, and the Government's answer to the visit he made to Ottawa in company with Mr. T. B. Baker of Moose Jaw in 1891, when it was found that the total amount the Government had ever received out of the four townsites held by the Trustees was $141,000; to the declaration made by Laurier on the subject at Moose Jaw in 1894; and to efforts that have been made since Mr. Sifton took office to get the Government to alienate its interests so that the same might become taxable. During all these years no one ever thought to question the position that the townsites were really owned by the Government, the C. P. R. and the N. W. Land Co. conjointly. Last fall an application made by the Trustees to alter the status of the Moose Jaw townsite had been called to his notice, and led him to communicate with Ottawa again. When he went to Ottawa in January he found that Mr. Smart had proceeded to the extent of making a division of the property on the map, and had said to the Trustees: "Take whichever half you like, and the government will take the

Auction Sale OF FURNITURE.

The QU'Appelle Furniture Company

Have decided to offer for sale their entire stock in lots to suit purchaser. Sale to commence at 1 O'clock on Saturday the 7th of April.

The stock comprises:

PARLOR SUITES,

BED ROOM SUITES,

SIDE BOARDS,

KITCHEN CUPBOARD,

ROCKING CHAIRS,

HIGH BACK DINING and other Chairs,

EXTENSION TABLES,

CENTRE TABLES,

LOUNGES,

COUCHES,

IRON BEDS of all sorts,

WOOD BEDS, COTS, etc., etc.

WARDROBES,

BOOK SHELVES,

MUSIC RACKS,

WALL POCKETS,

TERMS CASH

G. S. DAVIDSON,
AUCTIONEER.

other half. The Government would then sell or in some way alienate its half. The Trustees had made no answer. Going into the details with Mr. Smart he (Mr. Ross) was led to ask for the original agreement. He wanted the Government to at once force the division. To the surprise of himself, Mr. Smart and the law officers, they found that under the agreement the Government had no interest to alienate, no land to divide.

Mr. Ross produced a copy of the agreement and also of the Trustees' title deed. He pointed out that under our land titles act there is no such thing as a trust deed. The deed was a clear deed and title. The position was plain that neither the Government nor the C. P. R. held any interest in the land. The Government had a half-interest in the net proceeds under the agreement. The next important feature of the discovery was that, the above being the case, no part of the townsite was exempt from taxation, and that, in the future at all events, instead of collecting 25 per cent of the municipality could collect 100 per cent of the Trustees' taxes. He had at once advised the Moose Jaw Council to make no compromise with the Trustees on the 1900 assessment, and he had thought it a duty he owed to Regina, particularly as he was now a ratepayer of Regina, to place the position before this Council at the first opportunity.

In reply to questions Mr. Ross said he could venture no opinion as to whether any portion of the back taxes of which the Trustees had robbed these towns could be recovered, but there was no question at all but that the full 100 per cent of future taxes could be collected. He could promise that if the Trustees contested the North-West Government would back the towns in a suit. Leader.

WAR NOTES, March 28.

General Joubert died at Pretoria to-day. His death has been a great loss to the British advance in South Africa. The British advance is delayed by floods. Also waiting for the proclamation to make itself felt.

Wanted.

A good opening for jewelry and watch-making business. Address J. B. Henderson, Box 28, P. O. D.

No WAR is necessary to the farmer, WAR is that WAR is the only factory of the empire.

As the following wares guarantee.

The Champion Hoe Drill, The P. & O. Canton Line of Sulky Plows, Disc Harrows, etc.; The Chatham Giant Wagon and Sleighs; The Deering Binders, Mowers, Rakes and Twine; Team Harness in sets or parts; Cork-filled Collars; The Williams drop head Sewing Machines; Brantford (Red Bird) Bicycles; Metallic Roofing, etc.

J. A. Lidgate,

Agent, Qu'Appelle Station.

Envelopes.

SQUARE. Fine Grade—3 Packages for 25c.

BUSINESS. Best Grade—2 Packages for 15c or $1.25 for 500

Letter Heads in Pads.

25c. per 100
$1.75 for 1,000

Patriotic Post Cards

35 Cents for 50
10c per Dozen

PRINTING EXTRA. Rates for printing given on application to

THE PROGRESS Office.

10

THE PROGRESS, published EVERY THURSDAY MORNING IN Qu'Appelle Station, Assa. N. W. T.

TERMS: $1 per annum in advance; $1.25 if paid within six months; $1.50 if allowed to run over six months.

No paper discontinued without explicit instructions to that effect along with full amount of arrears.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Commercial advertisements by the year $5 per inch. If for less than six months $5 per inch.

Legal, Medical or small Business cards of one inch or under, $5 per year.

Advertisements one inch or under, 50c. for 1st insertion; 25c. for each subsequent insertion.

Transient advertisements, 12c. per line 1st insertion; 8c. per line each subsequent insertion.

Specials, 10c. per line 1st insertion; 5c. per line each subsequent insertion.

ROSCOE E. LAW,
EDITOR AND MANAGER

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1900.

"Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

FIRE LIMITS.

Since the appearance of our item on the above subject in last week's issue we were informed that we had made a mistake, that there already existed a by-law defining the fire boundaries of this town and providing for chimneys and other precautions against fire.

It appears that an old by-law, No. 41, did provide for the building of proper chimneys and the care of any house fire that was likely to endanger property in the town, but through some oversight or blunder on the part of the council of 1893 this by-law was repealed by by-law No. 230 for regulating certain nuisances, and these important clauses were omitted.

The only clause relating to fire is as follows:

(1) No person shall make any open fire in any stove, coal, wood or charcoal fire within one hundred feet of any house or other building or on any private property within thirty feet of any house or other building.

This clause is in the right direction but does not go far enough. By-law No. 114 indirectly provides for the protection of buildings from the spread of fire by defining a "nuisance" as including "those materials of any kind that may endanger property by catching on spreading fire and attaches a penalty for maintaining the same." Otherwise there is nothing in the municipal by-laws providing for the enforcement of ordinary precautions.

The present council no doubt believed that ample provision had been made for the protection of the town so far as legislation was concerned, but now that the matter is brought to their notice it is their duty to take action immediately and remedy the fault or they will be held culpable.

Even as it is the clauses referred to above are utterly worthless as little or no attempt is made to enforce them, though we do not attach any blame to the council therefor.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES LAND.

As will be seen by an article in another column, taken from the Regina Leader, the Township Trustees have been notified by the Government of the Province that they are to receive the land in the Township of Qu'Appelle, Assiniboia, for the purpose of settling the same upon the poor of the Township. These Trustees are now holding a meeting at the Qu'Appelle Station and are considering the resolution to accept the land and to sell it in parcels of one acre each.

By an agreement entered into years ago, they have been paying but 25 per cent. of the taxes levied, their claim being that the N. W. Land Co. owned one-fourth, the Government one-fourth, and the C. P. R. one-half of the property. According to their claim the Government and C. P. R. land was exempt, hence they only paid 25 per cent. As will be seen by a perusal of the article mentioned the Trustees own all the property and have thus been defrauding the municipalities of 75 cents on the dollar of taxes.

That this is important to S. Qu'Appelle we may show by quoting from last year's accounts. The total taxes due from the Trustees was $287, but they paid only one-fourth, $71.75, the municipality losing $215.25. The school tax due from them was $155.28 but they paid $38.82, the rest of the school district having to make up the 75 per cent. they should have paid.

Some arrangement should be made among the four town councils to work in unison and force the Trustees to pay future taxes in full.

Hon J. H. Ross deserves great credit for the interest he has taken and the exposure he has made in this matter.

Our council are only too glad to see this question cleared up and in fact have been trying for some time to find a way to get 100 cents on the dollar out of the Trustees.

NOTE

J. W. CONSELL, M. L. A., the East Assiniboia Conservative nominee for the Dominion house will address a public meeting here on Saturday next at 2:30 p. m. He has invited Mr. Motherwell, of Abernethy, to meet him and discuss public questions, particularly the elevator question. We hope to see a large turnout of farmers as Mr. Consell is well versed in the matter of grain handling.

Speaking of by-laws and their enforcement, it may be news to some to learn that the following extracts taken from By-law No. 230 relate to this town:

No person shall place any carts, wagons, sleighs, agricultural implements, firewood or other obstruction of any kind whatsoever on any street when they are about to remove the same immediately upon any street, lane, highway or sidewalk within said limits.

No person or persons shall upon any street, lane or highway willow and limit pay or engage in football or any other game.

A fine not exceeding $20 may be imposed for any infraction thereof.

PROVINCIAL autonomy is likely to be given another year for consideration in the Territorial Assembly. One hundred and forty-two thousand dollars increase in the grant will help the government out of a hole and enable them to worry along without going bankrupt. Senator Perley deserves some credit for this liberal increase.

In our issue of the 15th inst. we suggested that the Dominion government take over the control of all petroleum supplies in Canada. Now comes the news that Russia has a scheme for converting the entire petroleum industry of the Caucasus into a government monopoly. The Rockefeller octopus is a disgrace to the nineteenth century and stringent measures are necessary by the American and Canadian governments to relieve the people of this burden.

Sunny South.

From our own correspondent.]

Mr. Ford Beach is fitting up his place for Davu picnic.

Mr. H. Wilson has purchased a fine place. The farmers of this district are all going into fast horses and heavy sledges, so farming must pay.

Mr. Fred Buge, of Stintala, was last at the home of Mr. W. Wilson last Tuesday.

Miss James Donnelly had a quilt made on St. Patrick's Day. She was a great talent, and the women of the society enjoyed themselves immensely in the evening.

Will be pleased to see Mr. Tra-ford around again after his recent illness.

Mr. H. Wilson and family paid a visit at the home of Mr. Miles at Deep lake last Sunday.

Poplar Plains

A pleasant evening was enjoyed at Mr. and Mrs. Chubb's last Friday night as a birthday party of father and son. Mr. and Mrs. E. Whalen, J. P. Jones and many other neighbors were present. Mr. Jones made speeches that roused more enthusiasm than the refreshments, which were very largely in evidence. Mr. H. Walker and Mr. Lovren gave interesting music. There were two excellent jig dances. There was music till you couldn't rest, and under able leadership the Poplar Plains Field Club Band made more noise than a darkey camp meeting. As a bandmaster Mrs. Flagg has no superior and few equals. The affair finally broke up in a blaze of glory and rousing speeches by J. P. Jones and others that were full of sky rockets and pin wheels.

A hot wolf chase was enjoyed by a few of our sports. They killed two and wounded another, but while gathering up their game, their horses went on and left them to walk home.

Mr. M. Scott has been visiting Mr. Johnston for the past few weeks.

Mr. Hector Walker and Miss E. Stott were visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crowe last week.

Mr. J. W. Crowe is happy now. He has a young son, born last Sunday evening.

Miss E. Johnston is getting quite well again.

Fishing is the order of the day now at the valley.

FOR SALE.

"Earl of Winchester," a thoroughbred Shorthorn bull. Cheek for each. Apply to GEO. L. BAILEY.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of the North West Territories Act, the Government of the North West Territories has filed the memorial and plans as required by section 10 of the said Act with the Commissioner of Public Works, at Regina.

The applicants apply for the right to divert sufficient water per second from the Squired River, on the road allowance between sections 11 and 14, township 18, range 18, west of the second meridian for domestic and stock watering purposes and for the right to construct the necessary works as shown by the plans and memorials filed, to enable the water so diverted to be used for the said purposes on the following lands, viz: The north-east quarter of section 11, township 18, range 18, west 2nd meridian.

Dated at Regina March 28th, 1900.
JOHN A. REID,
Clerk of Executive Council.

LAND TITLES ACT 1894.

Notice Under Section 120.

TAKE NOTICE that proof having been made to my satisfaction of the accidental destruction of Duplicate Certificate of Title Number 4740, issued on the 26th September 1897 to John West of Qu'Appelle Station, in the District of Assiniboia in the North West Territories, I am, for the north-west quarter of section eighteen (18), in township nineteen (19) in range fourteen (14) west of the second meridian in the North West Territories, I intend to issue a new Duplicate Certificate for the said lands to the said John West in lieu of the one so destroyed under the provisions of Section 120 of the Land Titles Act 1894.

Dated at the Land Titles Office for the Assiniboia Land Registration District at Regina this 10th day of February, 1900.
F. P. FORBES,
Dy. Registrar, A. L. R. D.

In the Supreme Court of the North West Territories Judicial District of Western Assiniboia.

In the matter of the Winding Up Act and of the Qu'Appelle Felt and Boot Company (limited).

NOTICE is hereby given that the Honorable Mr. Justice Richardson, presiding Judge of the above Court, has fixed Friday the 10th day of March, A. D. 1900, in his Chambers in the Court House in the Town of Regina in the North West Territories, at five o'clock in the afternoon, as a time thereafter as Chambers will be held and Counsel can be heard on the hearing of an application for the appointment of Alexander P. Perkins, Esquire, Associate of the Assiniboia Station, or such other person as the said Judge shall think fit, Official Liquidator of the above named Company.

Filed at Regina this 9th day of March, A. D. 1900.
D. C. JOHNSON,
Clerk of the said Petitioner's Advocate in the said Court. Regina, N. W. T.

For Sale.

Shorthorn Grade Bull, rising 3 years. Cow, 5 years old. Apply to A. T. WHITING, Sec. 15-19-15, Edgely.

In the Supreme Court of the North West Territories Judicial District of Western Assiniboia.

In the matter of the Winding Up Act, and of the Qu'Appelle Felt and Boot Company, Limited.

Pursuant to the order of the Honorable Mr. Justice Richardson, made herein and filed in the office of the said Judge, notice is hereby given that each of the above Company is required to send in to A. D. Dickson, Esquire, Barrister, Qu'Appelle Station, the Liquidator appointed in this matter, on or before the 15th day of May, A. D. 1900, their claims against the said Company, together with a statement of the same (if any) held by them.

TAKE NOTICE that each claim is required to be verified by statutory declaration, AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the said Liquidator may, at the expiration of said time, distribute the Assets of the said Company amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard to the claims of which the said Liquidator then has notice.

Filed at Regina this 13th day of March, A. D. 1900.
Hamilton & Jones,
Advocates for A. D. Dickson, Liquidator.

Get your printing at this office.

FOR SALE, All Sec. 7, 18, 14 AND S.E. Sec. 34, 17, 14

These lands have to be sold at once to clear up Estate to which they belong. Offers will be received for a few days for their purchase. A New Stock of WALL PAPER of latest designs just arrived and arriving at The Qu'Appelle Furniture Store.

J. Doolittle,

Real Estate, Loan and Insurance Agent.
QU'APPELLE STATION.

GRAND OPENING.

HAVING opened up for business in New Shop, situated on Qu'Appelle street next door to the Massey Harris Co's, I am prepared to do all kinds of General Blacksmithing, Horse Shoeing, Sleigh Shoeing, &c., &c.

With neatness and despatch.

James McEwen.

The Combined Term And Renewal Option Policy

Is unique in Life Assurance. It is especially Adapted to the wants of Professional and Business Men.

This policy Guarantees, in a table endorsed upon it, Loans and Surrender Values either in Cash or Paid-up Assurance under the Renewal Selection

Beginning Immediately After the First Payment of the First Annual Premium.

Provident Savings Life Assurance Society.

E. E. LAW, AGENT.

Qu'Appelle Observatory.

	Maximum.	Minimum.
Wed. 14	8	-19
Thurs. 15	2	-18
Fri. 16	7	-18
Sat. 17	19	6
Sun. 18	17	6
Mon. 19	16	12
Tues. 20	25	-6

OUNGE OF PREVENTION TABLETS

Cure a cold in one day. Relieves Headache, Stomach. An Infallible Remedy that should be in every home. PRICE 25 CTS.

Rare opportunity to get a valuable present.

Mrs. E. Ambler.

S. H. Caswell & Co., BANKERS,

Financial and Insurance Agents

COLLECTIONS SOLICITED. RETURNS PROMPTLY MADE.

Four Per Cent. Interest Allowed on Deposit Accounts.

CORRESPONDENTS:
MOLSON'S BANK, Winnipeg.
Drafts paid on all principal parts of Canada at the Molson's Bank.

Cheques and Drafts for all parts of the World Bought and Sold.

Qu'Appelle Station. - A. A. A.

The Valley Echo.

Vol. 2

FORT QU'APPELLE, N.W.T. MARCH 20, 1900

No. 21

LeBreton.

From our own correspondent.

Mr. H. Cameron, of Poplar Plains spent last week at LeBreton.

Special services are being held every night this week in the church of the Sacred Heart.

Little Paul Martineau died of diphtheria last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Martineau have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

The Indians of the File Hills Agency have had a remarkably good winter and will have upwards of 400 tons of hay to sell this spring. The Indians of this Agency have acquired an enviable reputation for thrift and industry.

Mr. Malcolm Cameron, of Glenora County, Ontario, arrived at LeBreton on Sunday. Mr. Cameron proposes taking up land in the near future and making his home here.

Miss A. Mehan enters upon her duties as teacher of the Kronsberg school on Monday, April 2nd.

We are pleased to see Mr. McNab back to work again after his recent illness.

Mr. A. J. Osmont was a delegate to the A. O. U. W. Convention at Portage la Prairie last week.

Touchwood Hills.

Mr. Narcisse Thibault had a narrow escape from burning down his house a few days ago, and only saved it by putting some of it down, and as he was alone at the time he was fortunate to come off as well as he did. This is his third fire since we knew him and we sincerely hope it may prove to be the last.

The Indian Agent has been called away to LeBreton owing to sickness in his family. We hope it may not prove serious.

Mr. W. Fee is down to the station to bring back his wife, who has been visiting her friends in this part of the winter. We hope to see her restored to health on her return.

Springbrook.

From our own correspondent.

Too late for last week.]

Mr. Geo. Scott has sold his farm to Mr. Guy May, of the Fort.

A few from this settlement attended the ball at Studmore, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Scott, when a very pleasant evening was spent.

At a meeting of the Literary Society on Friday night it was decided to hold a concert on Friday, March 30th; the proceeds to be devoted towards the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Different committees were appointed, and all arrangements made to insure success.

Mr. George Robb is working on his farm, and getting things in shape for extensive operations during this coming summer.

Mr. Burton Brown is busily engaged getting out logs to commence building operations in the spring.

The sale of the school section, which is to be sold on 27th March, is beginning to cause excitement. All matrimonial events have been declared off, until it is found who is the purchaser.

Mr. Neil McDougall had a valuable mare badly kicked in the stable last week.

Mr. Wm. Nicholls has decided to stop in the settlement and begin farming.

Territorial Tips.

In last issue the Leader named ten officers of Strathcona's Horse who were residents or former residents of Regina. An eleventh may be added, namely, Captain Cameron of Montreal, who is cousin of Jan. A. MacGill of Indian Head, and who was a partner of Mr. MacGill's in the lumber business at Regina in 1882.

Mr. S. Otton has returned from the east and has taken his old position on the staff of the Regina Leader—West.

Mr. T. O. Davis, M. P. for Saskatchewan, appears to have taken up an altogether new line of business, and has addressed a circular letter to a number of his constituents, soliciting subscriptions for the Montreal Herald. In his letter he makes no secret of the fact that he wishes to counteract the influence of the Montreal Star throughout the Territories. He states that from being an independent journal the Star has become Conservative, and he accordingly warns his constituents against it—The West, Regina.

Mr. D. Crawford, of Marmora, intends moving shortly with his family to Weyburn, Assa—North Hastings Review.

The following item has been going the rounds of the papers in the provinces: "No live in a land of high mountains and high taxes, low valleys and low wages, big crooked riders and crooked statesmen, big lakes, big pumpkins, men with pumpkin heads, silver streams that gambol in the mountains, pious politicians that gamble in the night, rowing cataracts and roarin' orators, fast trains, fast horses and fast young men, sharp lawyers, sharp financiers and sharp-toothed shoes, noisy children, fertile plains that lie like a sheet of water and a lot of newspapers that lie like thunder."

An old church member died, says an exchange, of whose goodness there was a question, but who was regarded as a pillar by the pastor, who posted on the church door a notice in these words: "Brother Jameson departed for heaven this a. m." Underneath this somebody tacked a telegraph blank with these words: "Heaven, 9.30 p. m. Jameson not yet arrived; great anxiety."

"A Monastery in the Great West" by Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady; "The Clerk of the Court" by Julian Ralph; "The Mystery of the Century" "Singing the Mosaic on the Plains" "Behind the scenes during a Play" "College Girls Locked and Franks" give an idea of the varied excellence of the April Ladies' Home Journal. Of course, Richard King's "Jive So" story, "The Kipling's Child," narrating with delightful humor how the elephant got his trunk, will be sought first and heartily enjoyed. Jan. Macdonald's "The General Tramp in our Times," Edward Bok points out the merits of "The Face With which we Marry," and "American Mother" writes on "The American Woman in the Market Place," "Bianca's Riddle" by Miss Howard Webster, and "Fables in Prose" and "The Little Prince" are also interesting features. A fair part of the April Journal is filled with matters of interest to women. In the Currier Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Dr. N. D. Hillis, of Chicago, recently gave expression to the following surprising statement: "A recent canvass of one of our large eastern cities showed that ninety-four per cent. of its leading citizens were brought up on the farm. An examination of one hundred of commercial and professional representative men of Chicago showed that eighty-five per cent were reared in the country and rural villages. Seventeen of our twenty-three Presidents came from the farm. The census of the students of four colleges and universities showed that the rural districts and villages are furnishing eighty-five per cent. of our college students. A generation in the city is short. Life forces burn out rapidly. The lead-rate quickly succeeded by men from the country, they always have been, they always will be. Taking this statement as true, can

OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT

For the latest style in

SEE OUR SAMPLES.

THE PROGRESS.

JOB WORK NEATLY EXECUTED at the PROGRESS Office.

Qu'Appelle Valley Hotel THE ONLY LICENSED HOUSE AT FORT QU'APPELLE.

A full line of the choicest brands of Whisky, Liqueurs, Ales, etc., is kept at the bar for the convenience of the public and visitors.

Parties seeking HEALTH OR RECREATION and the QU'APPELLE LAKES just the locality to meet their requirements, as well as a SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE.

ROBERT S. SMITH, Prop., Fort Qu'Appelle, N.W.T.

any person tell us why it is, or why it should be?

BICYCLES

FROM $35 UP TO $85

ROSCOE E. LAW,

Agent.

THE COMMON SENSE WATER CURE

Applied by the use of the LALONDE AUTOMATIC COMBINATION CUSHION SYRINGE.

Takes away the cause of sickness by washing out the colon or large intestine. The injection is given by sitting on a warm cushion filled with water, the weight of the body forcing the water into the passage. This syringe can be used six or eight times a day. Price, No. 2 $1.50; No. 4 $2.00; No. 6 $2.50; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

J. LALONDE,

Patented and Manufacturer,

955 St. Catharines St., Montreal.

Mr. LALONDE, 146 St. Anne Street, has been recognized for many years, which made me rather doubtful, and I purchased one of Lalonde's Automatic Combination Cushion Syringes and I am right at present.

Ocean Steamships.

ROYAL MAIL LINES.

Cheapest and quickest route to the Old Country.

	From Halifax	From Portland	From New York
Californian	Alan Line	Alan Line	American Line
Columbian	Donner Line	Donner Line	Red Star
Vancouver	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star
Donner Line	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star
Donner Line	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star
Donner Line	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star
Donner Line	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star
Donner Line	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star
Donner Line	Donner Line	Donner Line	White Star

Cabin, $10, $20, $30, $40, upwards; Intermediate $10 to $15; Steerage $22.00 and upwards.

Passengers ticketed through to all ports in Great Britain and Ireland, and at specially low rates to all parts of the European Continent. Personal baggage arranged from all points. Apply to the Station Agent, Qu'Appelle, or to W. H. L. M. STELL, General Agent, Winnipeg.

UNEQUALLED ACCOMMODATION.

The only line having through trains to the

EAST & WEST

SLEEPING CARS TO

Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and East and West

Kootenay.

The only line running

Tourist Sleeping Cars

These cars are provided with every requisite and only a nominal charge is made for a berth.

Cars run to

Boston, Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Seattle.

Rates and particulars of service to

ATLANTA, BOSTON, ST. LOUIS, ST. PAUL, and the ALASKA and HOLLAND ROUTES.

For full information and full particulars apply to nearest C. P. R. agent, or to

W. H. L. M. STELL, C. P. R. Agent, Qu'Appelle, N.W.T.

Winnipeg, Winnipeg, Winnipeg

THE RHEUMATIC'S MILLENNIUM.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN RHEUMATIC CURE ushers it in—the days of suffering from this relentless disease in all its phases need be prolonged.

THIS POWERFUL SPECIFIC wins daily encomiums for its splendid work in dispelling pain. It gives perfect relief in 6 hours.

It drives out the causes—cleanses the system—paves the way and helps to perfect health.

For those who have been its victims—whether for a shorter or a longer period—its milder forms or in its more acute forms can really have any correct conception of its efficacy—agency that comes to the sufferer from Rheumatism.

For those who have been its victims—whether for a shorter or a longer period—its milder forms or in its more acute forms can really have any correct conception of its efficacy—agency that comes to the sufferer from Rheumatism.

prime plus known in modern medical science. It is the concentrated essence of the best and most potent ingredients recognized as being the most searching and healing. The formula is the outcome of years of study on Rheumatism in all its forms, its causes and medicines that are associated to give the quickest relief and most promising of a permanent cure. That the highest results have been attained by South American Rheumatic Cure that have been attained by any remedy of modern times is attested by the splendid testimony, the thankful words, the encouragement and faith shown in it by the hundreds and hundreds who have over their own agonies told how it has healed those who have been bed-ridden, for weeks those who have through its use "thinned away the crutches," those whose stiffened joints that were affected by years of the disease—those who have suffered the deadly pain and that are incident to the inflammatory and nerve forms of Rheumatism. Words cannot too strongly express its great merit, and sufficient need only to tell what others say of it. In price, the claims of the great South American Rheumatic Cure are modest. It may be dispensed in a hour, but its real matter of days at most to the most serious cases will vanish and in the place of pain and suffering there is a peace and lasting freedom.

J. D. McLeod, of Lehigh City, says: "I have been a victim of Rheumatism for seven years, it seemed to me that I was never to be free from it. I have been treated by many physicians without any benefit. I had no faith in Rheumatic cure. I was advised to get a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure from Mr. J. D. McLeod, of Lehigh City. At that time I was in great pain. I took a bottle of the cure. I took the first dose, the pain had left me. I continued until I had used three bottles, and today I am completely cured."

South American Nervine is a power in restoring wasted nerve force, cures nervous prostration, stomach troubles and general debility. It cleanses the system and builds up the brain power.

South American Kidney Cure is a powerful remedy for all cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Gravel, Gout, and all other urinary diseases. Helps in the treatment of all cases of Rheumatism.

Qu'Appelle Drug & Stationery Co.

A FATEFUL ABDUCTION.

BY MAY AGNES FLEMING.

Author of "A Woman of the World," "Sharing Her Own," "Maude Percy's Secret," etc., etc.

She rose as she spoke, and pushing aside the heavy velvet curtain, stepped to the outer room. As she did so, she perceived to her surprise it was midnight. Striking at the table, he had leaning on his hand, his left, clearing his throat, pushed his patient eyes from a vacancy, and the object of her thoughts.

In the full glare of the lamp she could see distinctly the noble contour of the head, shaped like that of a prince, the fine features, classic as those of a Greek statue, now wore a look of such a stern, settled, intense sorrow as Kate had never witnessed before. He could not see her where he sat, and she had a full opportunity of watching him unnoticed. The look of profound earnestness sent to her heart. It was as seldom he looked thus, always grave, always earnest, only sometimes the faint expression would come, as though the world were after all, a life to him.

Kate struck, then, standing there, when his thoughts were evidently far away. Accordingly she retreated but not the curtains, when the door opened, and Syria entered.

The young chief, dressed in his head across his brow, drew a long breath when the sad, dreamy look was gone, and his usual one of careless good humor returned.

"Well, Syria, what is it?" he said. Her message was a thrilling one; evidently she had entered more to see if Syria were with him than for any other purpose. As soon as she was gone, Kate stepped out and stood before him.

"Ah, Miss Syria," he said, rising. Syria has just been here to know if you will have your books packed to go on board. I intended to go to your room, not wishing to disturb you."

"Thank you," said Kate. "I am glad you did so. By the way, Captain, is Syria willing to go to sea?"

"Syria," he repeated, on surprise. "I never asked her. Of course she must be content to go."

"She has grown very pale and thin of late," remarked Kate, as she turned back to her room. "I am sure she is ill."

"What? I do not understand," said the young chief, in a tone that convinced Kate his thoughts were very far from Syria.

"I mean that I think she is ill," said Kate, making a desperate resolve to say the worst at once.

Captain Raymond uttered a prolonged sigh.

"I never was in love myself," said Kate, laughing. "But I believe Syria has fallen into that unhappy state. I wonder who is the happy man?" and she glanced at him with a look of inquiry.

"Really? I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing.

"Oh, no," he said, "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing.

"I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing.

"I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing.

"I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing.

"I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing. "I am sure I cannot tell," said Kate, laughing.

was in the most perfect order, the deck seemed to a most shining whiteness, every rope hauled taut, everything in its place—for Captain Raymond maintained perfect order and discipline among his private crew.

Kate sat taking in the scene with the eye of an artist. Now her gaze would wander over the gorgeous but desolate scene around her, on which no living thing was to be seen save the crew.

Then it would wander over the trim decks, resting for a moment on the swarthy, scraggle-looking pirate crew—each one with a long, glittering knife stuck in his belt, their fierce faces and evil eyes making her involuntarily shudder, as she thought of the many deeds of blood committed by them; again it would wander to the opposite corner of the vessel, where, leaning against the bulwarks, stood Syria.

She framed a beautiful picture in the rich scene around her; her white dress falling from her large waist in graceful folds to her feet, her glowing eyes and hair streaming over her shoulders, while a turban of crimson satin was wound around her head. Her great black eyes were fixed earnestly yet dreamily on the face of her most ardent admirer, who lay leaning over the side of the ship, his eyes fixed on the bright waters beneath. Now and then, at some passing thought, the cold red on her cheeks would fade, the blood that would drive on her magnificent eyes, and be supplied by a fierce flash, as they would rest for a moment on Kate.

And seated by herself, under the awning, watching the sun go down, Kate Sidney looked strangely out of place among the pirate crew. Plainly as she was dressed, in a simple robe of gray muslin, with a broad-headed gray turban, there was about her the unmistakable stamp of a lady.

Poor Kate! she was sad and lonely enough. Her waking thoughts, and dreams by night, were of the friends he had left in "Merrie England." Of her sad, brooding aunt, of Lord Arundel, still ignorant of the fate of her loved one, of her brother Charles, of her best friend, she thought, but not of her own future.

For herself, she did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates; though every comfort she had known on board of a ship, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

Then, too, the daily increasing jealousy of Syria rendered her miserable life. Every day she felt that the young chief, though he did not so much care, though her fate was no enviable one. Although every respect was shown her, she still felt she was among lawless pirates.

A CURIOUS COUNTRY.

AN AMERICAN TRAVELER'S EXPERIENCE IN MOROCCO.

In Tangier the Mutes Have the Right of Way in the Streets—A Fearful Punishment for Thieves—A Formidable Navy of One Ship.

Amrose H. Mullens, a lawyer of Baltimore, made a trip to Morocco a few years ago. He went with a Scotch friend, who was a great linguist, leaving Gibraltar, they reached Point Tarifa, and thence Tangier. Mr. Mullens thus describes his trip:

So shallow is the harbor itself that even from our little 80 foot side wheeler we had to be landed in rowboats. In this harbor lies the fleet of the empire, consisting of exactly one war steamer of about 3,000 tons burden, lying the blood of the empire of Morocco. Twenty years ago some Scotch engineers brought her to anchor at that harbor, and a month later, not receiving their wages, decamped in a body, leaving the steamer behind them.

None of the natives know anything about machinery, and in consequence from that day to this her engines have never moved. Like the capital of our most eastern possession, Tangier is a walled city. The streets are of the most narrow description, averaging hardly more than four feet in width. No wheel ever turns in them, and everything is carried either in the hands of mules or on the backs of the people. The streets are crisscrossed by streets that if a mule is coming from the opposite direction to that which you are pursuing the only thing for you to do is to retreat, your steps until you come to a cross street and then to wait around the corner until his majesty passes by.

The market place lies just outside the walls on the southwest side, and here all the people, saints, devils and others, daily gather. As you come ashore your boat passes through a regular gate, like one of those of the Alhambra, in Spain. Which is the harbor gate of the city.

The day I entered I found the stout Algerian harbor master sitting on a bench, smoking a cigarette. In reply to a respectfully worded inquiry in my very best French he said: "You're an American, aren't you? Then, for heaven's sake, talk English!" And before I could recover from my astonishment he went on: "Don't bother about that luggage on the ship. It's all yours. Go to the Oriental hotel and sit down here and smoke a cigarette and have a talk with me."

He turned out to be a pasha who had been educated at Eton and Oxford, and he had lived some time in Washington. He called on me afterward and was a very charming man.

When I was in Morocco, the emperor was a young boy, only 17 years old, and the great man of the place was the sheriff of Wazan. He was an immensely rich man and had built as a fad the Hotel Oubayda, to which he invited the pasha, who had directed me. It was situated down on the wall next to the saluting battery and was run by a chap named Anasid, whose mother was English and his father, had killed rooms and all sorts of modern conveniences, and a poker game was run there every night.

The talk of the day at the Oriental was a matter of some importance. There were two or three meetings were made. But at 7 o'clock sharp you must be on hand for dinner, or you didn't get any. The deal of honor now to Anasid, who to the latest day, when he departed the next in order, he had directed me.

The chief man in the place was a Circassian of Pedlar's. He had made his money in the time trade. He was an American citizen by adoption and a graduate of Harvard college in the sixties. His wife came from Wilmington, Del.

Peckham's home in Morocco was a most magnificent as big as the Whitehall Asylum hotel it boasts up in my money. It had fully a dozen drawing rooms and music hall, covered two or three acres of ground. The gardens were fully a half mile square.

Every one in Morocco seems to speak English, many of the Moors having been educated in England and other European countries.

The prison of the town is a curiosity. It is a kind of tower situated near the citadel, the esplanade of which is higher than the roof of the prison. In this is a hole through which food can be tossed by the friends or relatives of the prisoners. These are all thrown in together, and as there is no public provision for feeding them you can imagine the scramble and fights that ensue for the food thrown in.

Thieving is looked upon with extreme distaste in Morocco, a second offense being punished by inflicting blindness. This is done by severing the eyelid with the edge of a rethol sword. The thief is then turned loose to starve or live, as fate shall decree. If the former, it is regarded as the best, on the theory that it is better to be dead than to be a thief.

About the only good pig sticking to be found anywhere outside of India is in Morocco, but the manner of pursuing the sport differs in the two countries. In India a long lance, which is held in the middle, is used, while in Morocco they use a short lance, not more than seven feet long, which is held by the end. A leaden weight is placed on the end of a balance. It is an exceedingly dangerous form of sport, for if you should happen to miss a boar he would upset your horse as fast as not, and once upon the ground you would run an even chance of being disemboweled by his tusks.—New York Tribune.

A Move at Last.
A noted humorist had often petitioned the council of the town where he resided to fill up a mudhole near his house, but without result.

One night he heard a spluttering noise and sundry ejaculations out for publication, and going to his door, he found a respected citizen, a member of the council, floundering about in the mudhole.

"Good evening, sir. I am glad to see you stirring in this matter at last," and so saying he closed the door and left the poor counselor to extricate himself as best he could.—London Answers.

Kentucky Style.
Kentucky Teacher of infant geography class—Tommy Blood may tell us what a strait is.

Tommy Blood—It's jist 'th plain stuff, 'bout nothing in it.—Ohio State Journal.

Over four hundredweight of sealing wax per month is used by the great seal of the British monarch of England as the official seal.

Some Indian tribes in Alaska get even with their mosquito tormentors by eating them.

THE CYNIC.
Don't work your friends in the interest of a stranger.

The Lord loves a cheerful giver, and we would, too, if we could find one. Gossip is conducted on the endless chain lines. When it reaches you, break it.

Every one who owns a dog boasts that his dog knows more than most grown persons.

About the only time the average man shows an interest in domestic affairs is when the catnap is to be baited.

This getting married means that both are to hereafter raise vegetables and leave the cultivation of flowers to those who are still single.—Athens Globe.

The Savage Bachelor.
"I hear there is some talk of employing women as census enumerators," said the sweet young thing in her smoothest tones.

"Good idea," said the savage bachelor, to her great astonishment.

"Do you really think so?"

"Yes, I do. If there is anything on earth a woman is fit for, it is the business of thinking up about other people's affairs. Didn't I think I would agree with you, did you?"—Indianapolis Press.

Unbounded Wealth.
The London capitalist was seated at his desk with a number of mechanical drawings and sheets of paper covered with figures before him.

"Planning another railway?" asked the visitor.

"No. Railways seem rather small to me. I've been reading about the new mine in the mountains in South Africa. What I'd like to have more than any thing else is a ferryboat line across the Tugela river."—Washington Star.

WEAK, FAINT FEELINGS.

Serious Conditions that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Can Readily Cure.

One of the indications of serious heart trouble is the sensation of weakness or faintness that comes on at times. Sometimes it is simply a dizzy feeling that passes off, or it may be a state of unconsciousness with hands and feet cold and clammy.

These symptoms indicate a weakened heart. They are unmistakable evidences of the engine of life breaking down.

Now there's only one reliable remedy for restoring strength and vitality to weakened hearts and relieving all the distressing symptoms. It is Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

The case of Mrs. A. Stratton, Frederickton, N.B., amply proves this. Here is her statement:

"I suffered very much from an impoverished condition of the blood, coupled with extreme nervousness. A dizzy sensation arising quickly or coming down stairs, often troubled me, and my breath was so short that I could not walk up stairs. The least exertion caused my heart to flutter and palpitate violently, and I sometimes felt a smothering sensation, as if I were going to sleep."

"I doctored back and forth for my weak heart, but I got no relief from any medicine until I tried Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I can say that they helped me wonderfully. Sometimes my face and head would swell and puff, but all these troubles speedily yielded to the restoring influence of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I did not go on long until I regained the refreshing, refreshing sleep and I will always be a pleasure to me to recommend them to others."

No Two Thumbs Alike.
It is not alone on questions of hand writing that handwriting experts are called upon to testify. Hand impressions, among which Mark Twain in "Pudd'nhead Wilson" built his ingenious story, have sometimes formed the basis of very convincing testimony.

Conn Doyle said that Carvalho's deductions in the case of the robbery of $25,000 from a package of the American Express company, for ninety of the resembling and extraordinary coincidences, eclipsed anything any one ever dared put into fiction.

In 1881 Asa Guy Gurney was tried on the charge of stealing a large sum of money from the express company. It was proved that Gurney had opened the safe where the package had been placed, taken it out and deposited it in another safe. It was found that a large sum was missing.

The evidence was purely circumstantial. The envelope containing the money bore upon it, however, a thumb impression. Mr. Carvalho testified that the impression on the envelope and several impressions of Gurney's hand, taken and examined exactly and compared, showed that there were no two thumbs in the world alike. But such evidence was too subtle for the jury which tried the case, and the prisoner was acquitted.

It is to be recorded as a tribute to the accuracy of Carvalho's testimony that Gurney soon after confessed to the crime.

Dear Sir,—I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and lately have been confined to my bed. Some of your LINIMENT advised, I tried it and got immediate relief. I ascribe my restoration to health to the wonderful power of your medicine.

Burn, N.H. LEWIS S. BUTLER

Jerrald's Will.
The English lawyer has been accused for so long of dullness in his accounts for several stories related of the famous will Douglas Jerrald may not be proud of place as showing that the charges are sometimes untrue. It appears that at a dinner one gentleman who had been eating a dish of steaks had said to another: "Well, what do you think of my grays?" "Well, they look ever so fit," "Theirs, the grays," said Jerrald.

Sometimes, through a joke, Jerrald conveyed good advice or a word of warning. He was enjoying a drive one day with a jovial spendthrift behind him, full of grays. "Well, what do you think of my grays?" asked his impudent friend. "To tell you the truth," replied Jerrald, "I was thinking more of your duns."

Quick at a Hint.
Mr. Strahan, the bookman, recently received a report of $10 from his employer. He expected more and was greatly disappointed. He dropped the money on the floor in the presence of his employer, as if accidentally, and stooped to pick it up.

"Did you find it all?" asked his employer after a few minutes.

"No! I found only $10!"—Pittsburgh Blatter.

REKAL'S LINIMENT IS MADE BY PHYSICIANS.

DANGEROUS TO STOP A COUGH.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine Goes Deeper and Cures the Cold-It Is Prompt and Thorough in Action.

Cough mixtures are almost as numerous as stars, and many of them are decidedly dangerous, being prepared by persons not qualified to prescribe the proper treatment for disease. True, they stop the cough. But stopping the cough is merely removing the warning which nature gives of the trouble within. And, besides, a cough is stopped by opiates that deaden the nerves and ruin the stomach.

In contrast with the numerous mixtures devised to stop a cough, and so make it more difficult for the system to throw off the cold, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine stands as a scientific preparation, the prescription of which is based on the latest medical knowledge. It is a cough and cold and cough together, or by helping expectoration, loosening the tightness in the chest and freeing the body of the waste matter which must be discharged, before cure can be effected.

By stopping this discharge, and making it more difficult to cough, many remedies drive the disease deeper and the effort expended in trying to cough tears the delicate linings of the throat and bronchial tubes and sets up congestion of the lungs.

So long as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is used freely there is no danger of a cold developing into serious lung trouble. It heals the irritated air passages, keeps the cough loose and radically cures the cold.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is the safeguard against pneumonia and consumption in scores of thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. It is mother's favorite remedy for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthmatic coughs, colds and throat irritation. 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much. 60 cents at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Cold in the head and catarrh are promptly and thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. 25 cents a box, blowers free.

Cough mixtures are almost as numerous as stars, and many of them are decidedly dangerous, being prepared by persons not qualified to prescribe the proper treatment for disease. True, they stop the cough. But stopping the cough is merely removing the warning which nature gives of the trouble within. And, besides, a cough is stopped by opiates that deaden the nerves and ruin the stomach.

In contrast with the numerous mixtures devised to stop a cough, and so make it more difficult for the system to throw off the cold, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine stands as a scientific preparation, the prescription of which is based on the latest medical knowledge. It is a cough and cold and cough together, or by helping expectoration, loosening the tightness in the chest and freeing the body of the waste matter which must be discharged, before cure can be effected.

By stopping this discharge, and making it more difficult to cough, many remedies drive the disease deeper and the effort expended in trying to cough tears the delicate linings of the throat and bronchial tubes and sets up congestion of the lungs.

So long as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is used freely there is no danger of a cold developing into serious lung trouble. It heals the irritated air passages, keeps the cough loose and radically cures the cold.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is the safeguard against pneumonia and consumption in scores of thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. It is mother's favorite remedy for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthmatic coughs, colds and throat irritation. 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much. 60 cents at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Cold in the head and catarrh are promptly and thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. 25 cents a box, blowers free.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE DOOR IS OPEN.

It is a full moon, and the sea is calm. The day has been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea. The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea.

The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea. The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea.

The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea. The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea.

The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea. The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea.

The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea. The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea.

The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea. The day had been a day of storm, and the moon, while the clouds are still and motionless on the glassy sea.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

He looked up with a start, for she had approached unobserved, and Kate saw that his face still was the same look she had seen at a time before.

By stopping this discharge, and making it more difficult to cough, many remedies drive the disease deeper and the effort expended in trying to cough tears the delicate linings of the throat and bronchial tubes and sets up congestion of the lungs.

So long as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is used freely there is no danger of a cold developing into serious lung trouble. It heals the irritated air passages, keeps the cough loose and radically cures the cold.

Cough mixtures are almost as numerous as stars, and many of them are decidedly dangerous, being prepared by persons not qualified to prescribe the proper treatment for disease. True, they stop the cough. But stopping the cough is merely removing the warning which nature gives of the trouble within. And, besides, a cough is stopped by opiates that deaden the nerves and ruin the stomach.

In contrast with the numerous mixtures devised to stop a cough, and so make it more difficult for the system to throw off the cold, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine stands as a scientific preparation, the prescription of which is based on the latest medical knowledge. It is a cough and cold and cough together, or by helping expectoration, loosening the tightness in the chest and freeing the body of the waste matter which must be discharged, before cure can be effected.

Fluorimetric detection	1.00
Fluorimetric detection	1.00
Fluorimetric detection	1.00

LOCAL NEWS

Did anyone see a hissing bug last week?

We are pleased to notice that V. W. Barford is gaining great popularity in Edmonton by his excellent musical ability.

Horses and Shorthorns.

Mr. W. A. Heubach returned from the east on Tuesday with one carload of horses and one car load of Shorthorn cattle.

Unwelcome Visitors.

La grippe and mumps have invaded a number of houses in town and vicinity but thus far we are glad to say, no fatal cases have occurred.

Patriotic Concert.

Remember the patriotic concert in the school house, Springbrook, to-morrow (Friday) evening. An excellent programme has been prepared. Tickets 25 cents.

Right You Are.

Inspector Frank Amas is energetically laboring to have the streets drained of surface water and the back yards cleaned ready for the warm spring days that are to come.

Let Off.

In the Supreme Court at Regina last week the German Koch, of Balgonie, who had been previously convicted of forging wheat tickets, was let off on suspended sentence.

Sunday Night.

Mr. Bray preached in the Methodist church on Sunday evening and also took the morning and afternoon appointments. The Rev. Mr. Hoskin was laid up with a severe cold.

Go to Dakota.

A number of Germans, who have been working around town at any job they could get, left on Thursday night last for Bismarck, N. D., where they believe they can get land easier and start farming.

There are Others.

A large number of our friends have kindly responded to our request for amounts due us but there are still many who have not done so. The attention of the latter to this matter will greatly oblige.

Advertising.

The Ladies' Home Journal charges $5 per inch for one insertion of an advertisement. We ask only $3 per inch per year and we reach the very people you want too. If you don't believe us put in an ad and prove it. — THE PROGRESS.

Earlier Please.

While thanking our correspondents for past favors, we would like to remind them that all news arriving later than Wednesday morning cannot appear in the current issue. No less than three budgets came to hand Thursday last and, of course, had to be held over.

Successful.

A second attempt was made yesterday (Wednesday) to organize a school district north of this town. Messrs. A. A. M. Dale, C. G. Bulstrode and John Pollock were elected trustees. On the close of the poll at 4 o'clock the vote stood 5 for and none against. M. J. Matthews was elected auditor. The district will be known as Lady-smith school district.

Blacksmiths' Association.

The blacksmiths of Assiniboia organized under the title of "The Master Blacksmith Protective Association of Assiniboia." The meeting was held at Indian Head on the 15th inst. Jas. McEwen of this place, was elected president, John A. Phillips, Indian Head, corresponding secretary, Joseph Sheldorf, Indian Head, secretary, treasurer.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Bird, of Olds, Alta., took place at the Qu'Appelle cemetery on Sunday last. The service at the church was conducted by Revs. Messrs. Hoskin and Thomson, while the last and rites at the grave were conducted by the Free Masons. The funeral was largely attended as Mr. Bird was well known here in former years.

The Territorial Legislative Assembly meets to-day.

Good Man Wanted for general farm work. Apply to C. G. Bulstrode, Box 412 Qu'Appelle station.

School Lands Sold.

The advertised sale of school lands took place in the town hall on Tuesday last. The attendance was not large owing to the unsatisfactory weather. Two sections in the district were sold, the prices aggregating $9,800, or an average of $165 per acre. The highest price obtained was from P. McNaughton, of Springbrook, who offered $11 per acre for a quarter section. The lowest purchase price was $7 per acre. No land south of the track changed hands.

PERSONALS

C. R. Stovel, of Prince Albert, was in town on Wednesday.

Jas. Wilson left on Monday to spend a few days in Waseley.

Miss Scott returned on Sunday from a visit to friends in the east.

We are pleased to see Dan Hilliard around again after his long illness.

Mrs. Ellis, of Edgeley, has been visiting with Mrs. Brydon this week.

Miss Bailey has been confined to the house since Saturday last with la grippe.

Mr. D. Moore returned from the east on Saturday last, but has been laid up since with tonsillitis.

We regret to hear that Mrs. G. MacGurk is seriously ill. We trust she will soon be convalescent.

Mr. Harmer, of Winnipeg, succeeds Mr. J. Caldwell as manager of Caswell's Bank. He took charge to-day.

Mr. Munro, of Lakes End Mission, preached in the Presbyterian church on Sunday. He was the guest of Rev. S. W. Thomson for several days last week.

W. Blackwell arrived home from Gladstone, Man. last Saturday week. He spent the greater part of last week in Indian Head.

Geo. Blakely, of Springbrook, returned last week from a visit to his old home in Prince Edward county, Ontario. He reports having enjoyed his trip and visit but prefers to live in the North-west. He is talking of renting his farm and moving into town. We shall be pleased to welcome him as a citizen.

Edgeley Echoes.

From our own correspondent: Mr. Harry B. ay, wife and family, of Egg Lake, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson last Tuesday.

Mr. W. I. Matthews has returned once more to his farm, from Qu'Appelle Station, where he has been working during the winter.

Miss Gertrude Craig, who has been living with her sister, Mrs. McAra, of Indian Head, has been visiting her parents for some time. She returned to the Head on Monday.

Mr. A. H. Craig, of Battleford, is at present visiting friends and relatives in this district.

Mr. J. H. B. has recently bought a team of driving horses. Look out for the truck.

Miss Brydon returned to town on Monday after visiting friends in this district.

Those who have the contract are now draining, close to the school for the new building, which will soon be started by the board.

NOTICE.

NOTICE to holders of Provisional certificates, to the operation of Steam Boilers and Engines.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an examination will be held by the Inspector of Steam Boilers at Indian Head on the thirtieth day of April 1903, for the purpose of giving the holders of provisional certificates, under the provisions of the Steam Boilers Act, an opportunity of qualifying as first, second, or third class engineers.

Application for examination at above point, on the date mentioned, should be addressed to Mr. William Campbell, Inspector of Steam Boilers, Regina.

J. S. DENNIS, Deputy Commissioner. Department of Public Works, Regina, March 27th 1903.

Colt Lost.

LOST since last November, a light chestnut and black running 3 year old, with white stripes on face and two white hind legs. Anyone having information leading to its recovery, at this office, will be suitably rewarded.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers the following articles for sale at 25¢ each:—3 stoves, 3 small tables, 3 lamps, 2 bedroom chairs, 1 bookshelf, and several other articles. HUGH PRILEY, Qu'Appelle Station.

New Goods! NEW GOODS!!

Just Opened Out

DRY GOODS

CLOTHING

Furnishings

Shoes

Come and look at them. No trouble to show goods.

J. P. BEAUCHAMP & Co

HORSES FOR SALE.

THE UNDERSIGNED have just received a lot of good young horses and mares which are now all for sale. We will import ten more in March.

As is well known, the experience which we have acquired during the past ten years enables us to select horses which are most suitable for the agricultural requirements of this district. Some of these horses have been used and out of feed stables, but direct from the farmers of Ontario, and will be sold at most reasonable prices and suitable terms.

McMICHAEL BROS., Qu'Appelle Station, S. W. T.

THE QU'APPELLE FLOUR MILL

Is now in running shape.

WE respectfully ask the public to give us their patronage, and in return we undertake to give them general satisfaction in both quality and quantity of flour.

We have endeavored to make the Qu'Appelle Mill equal to any west of Winnipeg. It is fitted up with the latest system and most improved machinery.

D. MOORE, Manager.

NOTICE!

APPLICATION for the position of West Inspector of District No. 1 and 2, in the Municipality of South Qu'Appelle, will be received until 12 o'clock noon of Monday, April 1st.

J. C. STARR, Sec. Treas., Municipality of South Qu'Appelle.

NOTICE.

Mr. J. W. Cinnell, M. L. A., the nominee of the Conservative Convention recently held at Mooseport for the election of a candidate for Eastern Assiniboia, will address a public meeting in the Town Hall Building at Qu'Appelle station on Saturday, March 28th, at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Cinnell, who has been circulating through the West, is anxious to hear from the North Canadian population with regard to the North-West Electoral Association, is specially invited to attend and will be given ample opportunity of addressing the meeting on that subject.

For "National" wheels, the best, apply to Roscoe E. Law.

Now for Sale.—Good milk cow, due to calve about April 1st for sale at will as change for good clean milk. C. G. Bulstrode, Box 412 Qu'Appelle Sta.

JUST ARRIVED

A complete stock of

CLOTHING,

In Men's Boys' and Youths' sizes. These are exceptional value. Also a complete and extensive range of

BOOTS & SHOES.

We have a special line of Men's Tan Boots. Call and see them. We are always pleased to see you. A call will convince you of the above values.

C. T. BAILEY & CO.

JUST ARRIVED

A NEW LOT OF FALL SAMPLES, in imported Tweeds, blue and brown, Fancy White and Irish Linen. Our trousers are up to date in make style and quality. We have Blue cloth especially for dress suits. We are here to stay, and have the swiftest lot of samples west of Toronto. Call and select.

W. J. RICHARDSON, MACKENZIE BLOCK, QU'APPELLE STATION.

Reduction in POULTRY.

Now that the Christmas Season is past we will sell our remaining stock of Turkeys, Geese, Duck and Chickens at a reduction per pound.

White Fish, Fresh and Salt Herring

And other fish in season.

ONIONS.

D. BROWN, Qu'Appelle Station

FRESH BURNED STONE WALL LIME.

One bushel of this lime is equal to one and one-half bushels of local lime. Try it.

MacCAUL & HARVEY

C. G. Saunders,

LIVERY, FEED, and SALE STABLES, QU'APPELLE ST.

FIRST CLASS RIGS AND HORSES.

Riding and Driving

ALL NEW STOCK.

HORSES & MULES

RAW FURS HIDES AND DEER SKINS.

SHIP TO

McMILLAN FUR & WOOL CO.

EXPORTERS AND IMPORTERS.

200-212 First Ave. North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Write for Our Circular and See the Prices We Pay.

PANTS

10 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

A hand-drawn illustration of a man in a suit, with text describing the quality and fit of the pants.

FERRY'S SEEDS

A hand-drawn illustration of a seed packet, with text describing the quality and variety of the seeds.

Subscribe for THE PROGRESS